The sunny, green
jungle is full of life.

Suddenly, lightning flashes,
a tree crashes and a fire
starts. The fire quickly grows.

A parrot sees the fire
and yells, "Fire! Fire!"

A scared bunny yells,
"What should we do?"

"We should flee," said
the vulture as it flies away.

"Some of us cannot run away from the fire," said the snake.
"I agree!" said Momma bird
on her nest.

"We should work together to put out the fire," said the wise tiger. The jungle animals think of a plan.

The monkeys make baskets.

Hippos fill the baskets with water.

Water buffaloes pull the baskets closer to the fire.

Elephants use their noses
as hoses to put out the fire.

OOPS! An elephant farts.
The wind blows too. The fire gets bigger.

"We need more water," said the clever tiger. Together, they discuss a new plan. Whisper, whisper, whisper.

Beavers chop down bamboo. They poke holes in the center.

The animals work as a team.
They join the pipes together.

Soon, water flows from the waterfall through the bamboo to the fire.

Monkeys on elephants
aim the bamboo
hoses at the fire.

It takes a long time to fight the fire.

Birds bring water to the thirsty fire fighters.

Finally, the fire is out.
"Hooray!" Shout the jungle animals. "Our homes are now safe."

The happy animals
celebrate with a big party!

Tiger thinks about the day.
"Together we fixed the jungle
fire. It takes our hard work, to have harmony!"

Jungle Fire!

A fire burns in their jungle. What should the animals do? They can run away or work together to save their homes.

Practice understanding the main point of the sentences before worrying about every word.

Animals learn
to work
together
to put out
the jungle fire.
